DOOSAN Collection

The DOOSAN Collection supports exhibited artists at DOOSAN Gallery by investing in their works and aims to share the mission and vision of DOOSAN Yonkang Foundation with the public.

DOOSAN Curator Workshop

DOOSAN Curator Workshop is designed to guide and support young Korean curators and their professional development.

Three curators are selected every year, and the program consists of contemporary art lectures, workshops, and seminars led by professionals of diverse fields in contemporary art.

After the workshop, the three participants are provided with an opportunity to realize their studies and research by co-organizing an exhibition.

Suzi Park, Ji Hyung Park, and Lim Cheon participated in DOOSAN Curator Workshop in 2019 and their collaborated exhibition will be held at DOOSAN Gallery Seoul from January 15 to February 15, 2020.

DOOSAN Art School

DOOSAN Art School is a free lecture program open to those who are interested in art, which aims to enrich the public's understanding of contemporary art trends in Korea and abroad.

Sung-Taeg Nam will give a lecture during the first semester from March 5 to April 2, 2020.

Yunah Jung will give a lecture during the second semester from June 12 to July 10, 2020.

Open Call: DOOSAN Residency New York

Dedicated to discovering and supporting emerging artists, DOOSAN Gallery hopes to promote more artists through an open call. The selected artists will be invited to participate in the residency program at DOOSAN Residency New York, and given an opportunity to present a solo exhibition at both DOOSAN Gallery Seoul and DOOSAN Gallery New York.

KyungRyul Park and Yun Choi were selected to participate in the DOOSAN Gallery Residency New York through the open call in 2019.

Submission for the DOOSAN Residency New York takes place every December.

Open Call: Curatorial Proposals

Since 2011, DOOSAN Gallery has been supporting new emerging curators through the DOOSAN Curator Workshop.

From 2018, the program hopes to expand the support for curators by encouraging more curators to implement their experimental and diverse perspectives through the biennial 'Open Call: Curatorial Proposals.'

A special exhibition by Mok Hong Kyun, a winner of 2020 Open Call: Curatorial Proposals, will be held at DOOSAN Gallery Seoul from July 22 to August 19, 2020.
